JESSE JACKSON'S STUNNED SILENCE WHEN ASKED THIS QUESTION

FARMVILLE, VA—In the spin room Tuesday evening after the vice-presidential debate, Hosea Initiative president, Terry Beatley, asked the Reverend Jesse Jackson a question that seemed to stun him into speechlessness: “Reverend Jackson, I would like to know why 30 years ago you helped to expose the racist population control plan of Planned Parenthood’s founder, Margaret Sanger, and now today, you don’t say anything about it. It is killing more black people than all diseases, accidents and homicides added together. Why don’t you help expose it anymore?”

Reverend Jackson couldn’t get away fast enough. Facing the staggering statistic that about 36% of all abortions are performed on African-American women and their children, he did not stay long to chat. In fact, he bolted.

Beatley commented, “Reverend Jackson is another pastor who has turned his back on the truth of black genocide via the abortion industry, while Hillary Clinton boasts about her Margaret Sanger Award from Planned Parenthood. Silencing the voice of pastors and babies, the aggressive abortion industry— with its puppet masters in command — use many pastors to advance their population control agenda.”

Reverend Jackson left before Beatley had the chance to ask him about Margaret Sanger’s derogatory quote, “We do not want word to go out that we want to exterminate the Negro population, and the [African-American] minister is the man who can straighten out that idea if it ever occurs to any of their more rebellious members.”

“I fast-tracked Sanger’s ‘Negro Project’”

Dr. Bernard Nathanson, founder of NARAL Pro-Choice America

“The father of America’s abortion ‘industry’, Dr. Bernard Nathanson, admitted to Beatley that he fast-tracked what Sanger had begun in 1939 – the Negro Project. In New York City alone, more black children die at the hands of abortionists than are born alive. It is time to stop the genocide.”

Beatley’s insight into the pro-abortion policy playbook is shocking. In a rare interview, Dr. Nathanson gave her direction to use her voice and teach America the strategy of his deceit.

As President of Hosea Initiative, Terry Beatley educates about the history of the abortion industry through the conversion story of Dr. Bernard Nathanson. She is the author of What If We’ve Been Wrong? Keeping my promise to America’s ‘Abortion King’ which is available at www.abortionking.com.
